

This is a joke! Tell your friends about it! Also tell the Administrators at Hanford to answer my emails :(

Issue 6 Volume 1

The Hanford Lampoon

Smooth Brain Summer!!!

The Lampoon isn't afraid to admit our mistakes. Last issue, we said the Coronavirus was not something to panic about. We were wrong, and now dear reader, we urge you to do just that: PANIC. FILL THE STREETS WITH SCREAMS. GO OFF THE GRID. DOOMSDAY IS COMING AND BREITBART IS THE ONLY TRUSTABLE SOURCE. CLOROX ENEMAS ARE A MUST. STOP TAKING SHOWERS. HOLD YOUR BREATH. BUY ALL THE MAYO YOU CAN. THE DEEP STATE WILL TAKE YOUR MAYO.

Have you been thinking to yourself lately "man, I really wish every elderly person in my life was dead." Well, have we found a solution for you! All you have to do is keep having fun! How else are those geezers going to understand the fragility of their lives? We are strong and they are weak! What does a flat curve even mean? Curves are supposed to go up! Don't worry about these silly closures, they only apply to old people. Go out there and live life as destructively as possible! Besides, who's gonna stop you? Jay Inslee is stuck at home! Obituaries are the lifeline for local newspapers! And just imagine the rapture you will feel at all those funerals you caused. I personally love the food served at wakes; I bet it only tastes better when you add all the blood that's on your hands.

STAY 6 FEET APART

IT'S NOT THAT HARD

The best part about all of this has been getting to see how sociopaths react to cancellations. Nothing warms our hearts more than watching people who peaked in high school actively contribute to a pandemic because they think they can't get sick. Have fun in the hospital alongside your parents! You might feel some pangs of guilt that your Dad is about to take his last (wheezing) breath, but at least you got to take those faux-prom pictures with all your friends!

Online School Tips:

- Stop logging on
- Turn your zoom call into an episode of MTV
- Cribs: now this is where the magic happens
- Commit arson
- Projectile vomit everywhere
- Violate the Geneva Convention
- Sexy dances during a zoom call
- find out just how much trouble you can get before the FBI steps in
- Read your fan-fic of former Vice President Dick Cheney

Sports updates:

What better way to start off this hanford soccer season then with literally ending it! I swear, I would gouge out my eyes instead of witnessing another year of crushing losses.

We at the Lampoon love seeing the people who are treating this as a pre-summer. Nothing reaffirms my faith in human progress more than seeing people who struggle to read in class make the wise choice to give up on schooling entirely. You might descend into illiteracy, but at least you'll have fun doing it!

Send effigies and cereal codes to will@hanfordlampoon.com, and please send nathan@hanfordlampoon.com $150 in pesos so he can get a bus back home