

THIS IS A JOKE.
NOTHING
PUBLISHED IS A
REAL OPINION
NOR AN ATTACK

The Hanford Lampoon

The Voice of Treason!

Issue 2 Volume 1

Your Fall Health Challenge! : Go into the bathroom at HHS, and ask someone for a hit of their vape. Take it, step on it, and scream “nicotine causes ED and infertility!” You can’t get in trouble for it, and getting jumped by some kids after school makes a good story. Having one of the most active #VapeNation brotherhoods in the U.S. isn’t what makes Hanford special. It’s really the ASB Kids. They are the glue that holds this hormone factory together. If we didn’t have asb, think of all the fun things we would miss out on, like when a freshman sees their link crew mentor busting down at hoco

Do: Homecoming Special! Don't:

- Ask Mr. Christensen which bathroom has the best architecture for hotboxing: you don't want to look like a rookie
- Pay $50 For some flowers that are going to wilt in 2 days
- Share your airpods with your date, so you don't have to suffer through Ed Sheeran remixed with Quavo
- Pregame the dance in the parking lot. The grunge setting will set the mood for 3 straight hours of discomfort
- Drive your dad's midtier BMW. Make sure you clean off the back seat after.
- Share your favorite bible verses with each other. This is the perfect prerequisite for all the pious things that hoco is known for.
- Forget your curfew. 9:30 Means 9:30!
- Make out in the middle of the dance floor. What part of sweaty teens and trash music makes you think that it's a good time to get intimate?
- Audibly cry when you think about how disappointed your mom would be if she saw what you were doing right now
- Grind (I have to say this but like what else are you gonna do? Talk over the DJ playing Old Town Road for the 8th time?)
- Forget to drink lots of water: this is the perfect excuse to go to the bathroom and cry when you realize that you're the ugliest person in the group

The homecoming theme this year is “Golden Age” which only occurred because an ASB kid needed extra credit on their Great Gatsby unit in LA. It's great that the school is going back to the roaring 20's so we can remember all the things that America was doing back then (being racist, harassing women). By comparison, Saturday Night in Singapore was actually a good theme! Nothing better than a majority white school going back to celebrate a historically rich time! Remember segregation and Jim Crow laws? Less-than-fun Fact: The KKK reached its peak in the 20's. Not to put a damper on your evening or anything though, it's not like glorification or anything. Party on!

Send your threats to nathan@hanfordlampoon.com. There's a website: hanfordlampoon.com